WHAT WERE THE FUND COSTS FOR THE PAST YEAR? (based on a hypothetical $10,000 investment)

Class Name	Costs of a $10,000 investment	Costs paid as a percentage of a $10,000 investment
Investor Class	$217	2.11%

HOW DID THE FUND PERFORM LAST YEAR AND WHAT AFFECTED ITS PERFORMANCE?

For the one-year period ended December 31, 2024, the Fund (MFADX) rose 5.71% and the Russell 1000 Index returned 24.51%.

- The year 2024 proved to be another strong year for equity markets, with continued leadership from the largest U.S. companies, fueled by excitement about artificial intelligence (AI) investments and early signs of AI demand. Broadly speaking, this has been driven by expansion of price-to-earnings multiple and positive earnings revisions skewed toward these large leaders. Mid- to small-cap stocks posted low to mid-teens returns but lagged in 2024 due to less favorable earnings revisions and lower price-to-earnings multiple expansion.
- During the period from the beginning of the year through May 31, 2024, prior to Mutual of America Capital Management's appointment as sub-advisor to the Fund, the Fund's Industrials, Energy, and Basic Materials sectors' holdings positively contributed to performance while the Real Estate sector's holdings detracted from performance. With regards to specific holdings, Star Bulk Carriers and Costco Wholesale were the top contributing stocks in the portfolio from the beginning of 2024 through May 31, 2024. Over the same period, Lam Research Corp., Tesla, and Microsoft were top detractors from performance over the year.
- For the period from June 1, 2024, to the end of the year, the Fund was sub-advised by Mutual of America Capital Management. The long portion of the portfolio underperformed while the short portion of the portfolio had a negligible positive impact on performance. In the long book, the sector that contributed the most to performance was Consumer Staples followed by Utilities. Technology was the largest detractor from performance due to an underweight position in the sector and stock selection, followed by Energy. In the short book, the Fund had a positive impact from security selection in the Health Care and Technology.

HOW DID THE FUND PERFORM OVER THE PAST 10 YEARS?*
